3rd Draft

STATEMENT OF PERSONNEL POLICY

The Central Intelligence Agency provides a career for employees whose integrity, ability, and determination will help it to meet the present and future intelligence requirements of the United States.

Employees who have demonstrated competence by meritorious performance will be given an opportunity to develop skills and abilities through programs for training and education.

The Agency will recognize intelligence, energy and potential talent in applicants and employees and will provide them the opportunity of learning how and where to use and develop these qualities.
